

Connectivity

Metro Internet Exchange (IX)

Metro IX is a highly reliable network connection between data centers within the metropolitan areas where CyrusOne data centers are located. The connection can be between two CyrusOne data centers for customers with multiple deployments or a connection from one of the facilities to a traditional “carrier hotel” within the same market

Features

- Available in Fiber, Coax and CAT 6
- Connections serve vital and mission-critical services
- 99.999% (five nines) reliability

How does it support customers Interconnection requirements?

- A dedicated circuit offers a secure path for the connection
- Access in multiple CyrusOne metro areas makes it easy to find the location that fits customer needs
- Wide range of connection speeds to suit unique needs

Availability

- In all CyrusOne Data Centers

